The attendants were Miss Grace Hand,sister of the groom, and Harold Border of Nappanee. The bride was attired in a blue crepe dress and had a corsage of pink snapdragons and white mums.

Donna and Bill Hand

Willard Edwin Hand was born on October 14, 1917 to William Edward Hand Sr. and Mary Ada Shumaker Hand in Bourbon. Donna Mae Koontz was born on October 11, 1911 to George Washington Koontz and Dora Mae Zentz Koontz in Bremen.

The happy couple went to housekeeping in a house where the Bremen hospital is now located. Later they bought a house at 509 North Indiana Street, Bremen and lived there for 25 years. Bill got a job at the Bremen Gray Iron Foundry as a truck driver but soon became foreman of the mill room and shipping department. There was still a depression in the United States so times were hard.

When Donna sent Rex off to kindergarten, she opened her Mother Goose Nursery School which she operated for 16 years in Bremen.

Bill and Donna then moved to Plymouth and resided on a 60-acre farm across from the Lake Latonka spillway and are living there presently. Bill worked at Bremen Castings (the foundry changed its name) for 41 years and retired to mow grass. Donna worked in the Plymouth Day Care Center and retired after six years. Before she was married, Donna attended Indiana State College for one year on a teacher's program.

They have 12 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Their sons, Larry and Terry, live in Alaska with their families; Diane and David live in Plymouth; and Rex lives in Arkansas. This year in October they celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. Diane Elyse Hand Eveland

RALPH HANES FAMILY

Ralph and Bessie Ames were married January 3, 1918 in the home of the bride's parents in Bourbon. They started housekeeping on his father's farm. They later bought this farm and lived there 58 years. They sold the farm and then moved into Bourbon. The farm was on Cedar Road north of Bourbon.

There were eight children: Helen; Maxine; Dorothy; Julia; Martha; Barbara; Carol; and Ralph, Jr.; in that order.

Bessie attended all 12 years at the Bourbon schools. Ralph attended the one-room school of Sandridge, north of Bourbon. Bessie's father, Bert Ames, was his teacher. He met Bessie one day when she visited school.

Ralph's parents were Rufus and Minerva Wakefield Hanes. He had one brother, Alvin, and his twin sister, Elsie, and sisters, Dora and Viola.

Bessie's parents were Bert and Addie Mackey Ames. She had one brother, Ralph; two half-brothers, Max and Glenn Ames; and three step-brothers and one step-sister, Harold, George, Wayne, and Kathryn Reichert.

Bessie belonged to the Yellow River Home Economics Club for many years. She was a member of the Foster Chapel Church and was pianist for Sunday School and church. Bessie enjoyed making candy at Christmas for the family and fixed cheer plates for shut-ins.

Bessie was born January 28 1899 and died in St.Joseph's Hospital in Mishawaka on April 8, 1978 of cancer.

Bessie's father, Bert Ames, was a school teacher and later in the painting and decorating business. He also did some farming at one time. Her grandfather, John Ames, was a Civil War Veteran, living until the age of 97. He died in the home of Bert Ames. He was a member of Company K, 74th Indiana Infantry and was severely wounded in the right arm at the Battle at Chicamauga September 19, 1863. He spent many weeks in a hospital, the wound finally leaving him with its visible mark on that arm. From that moment on he was never able to reach his face with his right hand, the elbow becoming rigid from the effects of the wound. John Ames was born to Seymour and Mary Lash Ames. He was married to Phoebe Ensminzer in Bourbon.

Martha Hanes Rusher died on April 12, 1979 of cancer.

Ralph Hanes was born March 12, 1899.

Ralph and Bessie had 12 grandchildren, 27 great-grandchildren, and 3 step-great-grandchildren, and at this time 4 great-great-grandchildren. Mrs. Hugh Umbaugh

ANNA AND ABRAHAM HANEY FAMILY

This story goes back to when Michael Balmer served for 18 years as Secretary of State in Switzerland where Berne is situated. It was during this time the republic gained it's political freedom.

Michael Balmer is the father of Casper Balmer who married Tina Yutzley. Their daughter, Anna, was born April 29, 1831. When Anna Balmer married Abraham Haney in Berne, Switzerland, her father, Casper, gave her $300 and advised them to go to the United States where their prospects for advancement would be better. They accepted this advice and landed in Pennsylvania. From there they started westward working on farms and at odd jobs.

Their first born, Jacob, (April 21,1853-1943) claimed he was born in a sheep stable near Milford. He was my father.

Soon after Jacob's birth, they were told about 30 acres of land offered for sale on the west side of the county line between Kosciusko and Marshall Counties; this they bought. Anna invested part of the money given to her on the east side of this county line in five acres. Later she sold the five acres and invested it on the west side.

This land is bounded on the north by East 3 B Road; on the east by Marshall County line; on the south by the Army Ditch; and on the west by the property line. This land contains the Haney Gravel Pit, from which much gravel has been taken to improve former roads in the northeast part of the county. This land is still in the Haney name belonging to Wilma Haney, granddaughter of Abraham Haney.

Abraham Haney died October 15, 1897 at 71 years, 2 months. Anna M. (Balmer) Haney died May 14, 1912 at 81 years, 15 days.

Now as for me, Oscar D. Haney, I met Zae Lehman in Nappanee, asked her for a date, took her to a circus, and married her in Nappanee on June 25, 1927. We have had a circus ever since. We are the proud parents of Virginia (Helmke), Marcia (Warne), Louise (Price), and Joseph, who have given us grandchildren and great-grandchildren. I am writing this on my 87th birthday, September 7, 1985; my wife will celebrate her 87th birthday, March 12, 1986, the Lord willing.

We are Christians and thank God for caring for us. Our home is located at 417 North Montgomery Street in Bremen. A GOOD TOWN! Oscar D. Haney

EVADAH KIMBLE HARBAUGH

I, ,Evadah Kimble Harbaugh, was born October 8, 1898 at the home of my parents one mile east of LaPaz. My father was Lewis Kimble, born August 4, 1875 in Marshall County. He married my mother, Arie Petcher, on December 22, 1897. She was born September 28, 1877 in Marshall County. They lived to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary in December, 1947 at Albert's Community Building in LaPaz. Their daughters were the hostesses, Evadah and Goldie. We both attended school in LaPaz. A number of the girls I went to grade school with still meet twice a year, eat out, and spend the afternoon visiting. We have been meeting like this for 55 years, each year our group gets smaller. After I graduated from high school, I went to work in South Bend at Birdsell's office where they made wagons and cloverhullers for a short time. I came back home and started working for Fred Kuhn, who had a Ford agency in Lapaz, where I worked until I was married.

JOHN F. HANEY.

This gentleman, a native of Indiana and of Swiss descent, has resided on his eighty-acre farm in Scott township, Kosciusko county, Indiana, since November, 1881, and has won for himself a fine reputation as a farmer and citizen. He was born in Elkhart county November 1, 1854. His father, Abraham Haney, was born August 16, 1826, and his wife, April 29, 1831. They were married in Switzerland in 1851, and came thence to America in 1852, landing in New York city in April. From New York they went to Columbiana county, Ohio, but the same year came to Indiana and for a few months lived in Whitley county. In 1853 they removed to Elkhart county, and in 1860 came to Kosciusko county and resided in Jefferson township until 1884, when they removed to Marshall county, where the death of the father occurred October 15, 1897. The mother still resides in Marshall county, greatly venerated by all her neighbors. These parents had a family of nine children, namely: Jacob A., born April 21, 1853; John F., November 1, 1854; Catharine, January 10, 1857; William, April 9, 1859; Anna M., December 2, 1860; Daniel, September 30, 1864; died August 31, 1898; Peter and Edward, twins, born July 20, 1866, Edward dying in infancy, and Emanuel B., born August 24, 1872.

John F. Haney was reared a farmer and after working on the home farm until twelve years old, hired out until his eighteenth year as a farm laborer, in the meanwhile faithfully turning over his earnings to his parents. He then continued to work on his own account as a monthly laborer until 1881, when he purchased a part of his present farm, and later bought the remaining part, and has converted the whole into one of the most productive farms of its dimensions in the township.

The marriage of Mr. Haney took place in Kosciusko county, October 23, 1881, to Miss Mary L. Summe, who was born in Stark county, Ohio, July 29, 1860, and is a daughter of Samuel and Catherine (Rough) Summe. Her parents were among the early pioneers of Kosciusko county, Indiana, but now reside in Franklin township, about four and a half miles northeast of Akron, Fulton county, Indiana. They have a family of ten

George Shideler

It has been established that Henry Shideler b. 1744 was the second son of John Shideler of Germany, John Shideler the third son, Peter Shideler the fourth son, leaving George Shideler and Jacob Shideler to be the eldest and youngest sons of the family. It is suggested by Mr. Harry Shideler, Gerard, Kansas, in his book, HISTORY OF THE SHIDELER FAMILY, that George Shideler was born sometime in the early 1740's. This would make it seem reasonable that he could be the father of Daniel Shideler b. 1790 and that Daniel Shideler b. 1790 and that Daniel Shideler could be one of the younger children of George Shideler mentioned in the first census report of 1790. A later record names four sons.

In the early part of 1700, a young man by the name of Shideler emigrated to America from Germany in preference to serving the required seven years in the German army. Where he settled and of his family we know but little. The first record we find is the location of a grandson, George Adam Shideler, in Washington County, Pennsylvania.

During this lapse of time, a scene is being enacted in Germany which plays an important part in our narrative. A lassie was engaged to a young soldier but his suit was opposed by her parents; and during his abscence, while on duty, she was pursuaded to become the wife of his rival. This she agreed to do on promise of immediate departure for America. While on board the vessel, her husband died and was buried at sea. The widow continued the voyage, which at that time required a number of weeks to complete, and soon after landing became the wife of the captain whose name was Buchias. They then located in what is now the New England States. Nothing is known of their where abouts for several years, when we find them living in Washington County, Pennsylvania, and their daughter, Mary Magdelene Buchias, is united in marriage with George Adam Shideler who is mentioned above. To them was born twelve children, seven sons and five daughters. All lived to be grown but one daughter who died in infancy. They are Shideler's who moved from Wayne County, Indiana to Huntington County, Indiana. By elimination this also seems likely to be true as the history of the other four sons of John of Germany are recorded in the book, HISTORY OF THE SHIDELER FAMILY by Harry Shideler, Gerard, Kansas; published in 1931.

George Shideler, son of John from Germany, served in Captain George Miar's Company of Washington County, Pa., militia in the Revolutionary War.

In Daniel Shideler's (1790) Old Family Bible, once in the possession of Aaron Shideler b. November 25, 1818; died in Huntington County, Indiana July 3, 1888, and now in the possession of a granddaughter, Mrs. Pearl Cline, Markle, Indiana, is recorded John Shideler b. 1710 Hanau, Germany. Emigrated to America in 1730. Five sons and three daughters, Peter, John, Henry, George and Jacob. This evidence indicates that Daniel Shideler was a descendant of John Shideler of Germany but does not name the father of Daniel Shideler.

As mentioned above the Shideler descendants who settled in Huntington County, Indiana, in the middle 1800's are descendants of George Shideler, son of John Shideler of Germany. These early Huntington County, Indiana settlers were direct descendants of Daniel Shideler b. May 23, 1790. The names and dates of birth of the fourteen children of Daniel Shideler (1790) are recorded in the aforesaid Bible record.

It has been established that Henry Shideler b. 1744 was the second son of John Shideler of Germany, John Shideler the third son, Peter Shideler the fourth son, leaving George Shideler and Jacob Shideler to be the eldest and youngest sons of the family. It is suggested by Mr. Harry Shideler, Gerard, Kansas, in his book, HISTORY OF THE SHIDELER FAMILY, that George Shideler was born sometime in the early 1740's. This would make it seem reasonable that he could be the father of Daniel Shideler b. 1790 and that Daniel Shideler b. 1790 and that Daniel Shideler could be one of the younger children of George Shideler mentioned in the first census report of 1790. A later record names four sons.

EARLY FAMILY HISTORY

In 1710, there was born in Hanau, Germany, a boy who was destined to establish in America, a family which in two centuries should have representatives in every state north of the Ohio river and west of the Mississippi.

His name was John Shidler. In 1730, this boy came to America, landing at Philadelphia, where he remained for a season, and then went to Frederick County, Maryland. It was here that he met and married Margaret Nave. They moved to Washington County, Pennsylvania, where a few of their descendants, of the sixth and seventh generations, live now Here John died in 1784 and Margaret in her 86th year.

John and Margaret reared a family of five boys and three girls. Of the daughters, we have no record.

In the first federal census report, 1790, appears the name of five Shidler families as follows:

Peter, 3 males, 7 females, total 10.
John, 7 males, 7 females, total 14.
Henry, 5 males, 5 females, total 10.
George, 3 males, 4 females, total 7.
Jacob, 4 males, 2 females, total 6.

These figures correspond very closely with those I have obtained from several correspondents. The few discrepancies may be accounted for by the supposition that some may have died before this census was taken or that others were born afterwards These figures, of course, included the parents. There were then in 1790, in all America only 47 Shidlers all in Washington County, Pa., near Pittsburgh

EARLY FAMILY HISTORY

In 1735 Peter was born in Hesse, Germany, a boy who was destined to establish in America, a family which in two centuries should have representatives in every state in the Union and [illegible] most of the territories.

[illegible] John was born [illegible] in 1760 [illegible] came to America, settled at Philadelphia, where he remained for a season, and then went to Frederick County, Maryland. It was here that he met and married [illegible] [illegible] they moved to Washington County, Pennsylvania, where a few of their descendants of the sixth and seventh generations live now. Here John died in 1811 and Margaret in the same year.

John and Margaret reared a family of five boys and three girls. Of the daughters, we have no record.

In the first federal census, 1790, appears the names of five [illegible] families as follows:

Peter, 2 males, 7 females, total 9
John, 7 males, 7 females, total 14
Henry, 3 males, 3 females, total 6
George, 3 males, 4 females, total 7
Jacob, 4 males, 2 females, total 6

These figures correspond very closely with those I have obtained from several correspondents. The few discrepancies may be accounted for by the supposition that some may have died before this census was taken, or that others may have been adopted. These figures of course included the parents. These were born in 1760, or all [illegible] some of whom were all in Washington County, Pa., near Washington

From this region, successive generations migrated westward with the sun, to Ohio, Indiana, Illinois Michigan, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado, California ,Canada, Washington and perhaps to every other state west of the Mississippi.

From the Pennsylvania archives, I learn that these brothers owned property in Washington County in 1781, as follows:

George, 350 acres, 3 horses, 4 cattle, 8 sheep.
Henry, 100 acres, 2 horses, 2 cattle, 4 sheep.
Jacob, 150 acres, 2 horses, 4 cattle, 4 sheep.
Peter, 60 acres, 3 horses, 3 cattle, 0 sheep.
John, 200 acres, 2 horses, 5 cattle, 1 sheep.

We are tempted to philosophize upon the merits of these ancestors as husband-men, their paucity of live stock coupled with such plenitude of acres seemingly so inconsistent with modern farming. We are prone to commisserate with that lone sheep of John's, and to wonder why none of them listed any swine. These families seem to have been thrifty people however, for four years later, 1785, we find Jacob in possession of 250 acres; Henry, 400; Peter 180 (in 1787); John, 200 and George, 350. Some of them had increased their holdings two, three and four-fold and the others had held their own. Much of their holdings have become rich coal lands and now represent millions in wealth to later owners.

Among the problems and puzzles in tracing out relationships, I find a George and a Henry Shidler each paying 15 shillings taxes in Bedford County in 1773. I cannot make them fit into the family tree and so for this once I resort to conjecture that they were the same George and Henry mentioned above and had lived temporarily in Bedford County or owned property in that county without living there Henry mentioned in the census, was born in 1744 and would have been 29 years old in 1773. George's age would have been somewhere near that.

Subject: [Ma-Bay-Colony] Layout of Salem,Mass., in area called "North Fields"...1-102

Date: Sun, 04 May 2003 03:46:30 +0000

The "North fields" was a horse pasture owned by 1.Capt George Corwin,Philip Cromwell,William Browne,sr., and Dr.George Emery. Most of the lots were 10 acres each, 1669.

According to the book,the north fields was in an area that is bounded by the North River on the east, Williston River on Northeast,and Cow-House River on the north/northwest.

Apparently the the layout started before town records, so most of the following are found in land titles.

Of particular note is mention in the will of "my grand child Elizabeth Gifford." This introduces the question of Elizabeth Gifford's parentage, which is not apparent from the will. Found at Sandwich, Mass., about ten miles west of Yarmouth on Cape Cod, by 1647 was William Gifford, tailor (The Mayflower Descendant, 7:208; Plymouth Deeds, 5:354), who became a member of the Society of Friends. By two wives (or possibly three) he had seven sons and one or two daughters (Gifford Genealogy 1626-1896, 1896, pp. 1-3; Little Compton Families, Benjamin F. Wilbour, 1967, p. 276). The children of the five younger sons are known and include no Elizabeth. The second son, Hannaniah, removed from Sandwich as early as 1670 (Monmouth County, N.J., Deeds, C:18). In 1679, Hannaniah and wife Elizabeth were among witnesses of the marriage of Restore Lippincott to Hannah Shattuck in Shrewsbury, Monmouth County, N.J. (Shrewsbury marriage records, p. 1, at 15 Rutherford Place, New York City). Little more is known about Hannaniah, but it is highly unlikely that livestock in Massachusetts would be willed to a granddaughter living in New Jersey; thus, it appears reasonable to rule out Hannaniah² Gifford as being the father of Yelverton Crowell's granddaughter.

Left to be accounted for is William Gifford's eldest son John, who lived on Spring Hill, Sandwich, on property willed to him by his father. In Sandwich Vital Records are recorded the births of eight children of John Gifford, the mother not being named. Significant among them are the first child, "Elezebeth gifart the daftar of John gifart was boarne: the 25. of. 12. 1665"; and the seventh child, "yellverton Gifford the Son of John Gifford was borne the 22 Aprill anod 1676" (The Mayflower Descendant, 14: 111-12).

The will of John Gifford of Sandwich, dated 9 April 1708, inventory taken 5 May 1708, and proved 17 May 1708, mentions wife Elishua, son Yelverton Gifford, and daughter Elizabeth Tupper, deceased, in addition to other children and grandchildren (Barnstable County Probate, 3:396). This is the only known record of the name of John Gifford's wife, and it is presumed that she is the mother of his children and the daughter of Yelverton Crowell.

Foremost among arguments for this presumption is the fact that among the children of John² Gifford was a Yelverton. This surname probably would not have been used as a given name by John² Gifford unless a close family relationship were intended to be honored. He did just this if his father-in-law were indeed Yelverton Crowell.

Further persuasive evidence supporting the identity of Elishua Gifford as a daughter of Yelverton Crowell of Yarmouth is found in the history and records of Windham, Conn. One Joshua Allen died at Windham 27 Dec. 1699 (Windham Vital Records). His widow was Mary, who subsequently married as his second wife on 17 July 1700, William More. She died 18 Sept. 1727, and

More married third, Tamar Simons (The Granberry Family, comp. by Donald L. Jacobus, 1945, pp. 145-6). It is very likely that this Joshua Allen was the one of that name listed as a resident of Yarmouth in 1679 (The History of Cape Cod, Edward Freeman, 1869, 2:195). It was suggested by the late genealogist Bertha W. Clark in a paper first written in April of 1954 and revised in January of 1955, "A Sandwich-Dartmouth-North Kingston Allen Line," that Joshua Allen was one of the five "least" (unnamed) children of George Allen of Sandwich, who was buried 2 May 1648 (Records of the Colony of New Plymouth, Nathaniel B. Shurtleff, 1857, 8:6) and whose will, dated 7 June 1643, is at the Plymouth County Registry of Deeds (1:84). Miss Clark found "very strong reasons for thinking the eleventh son may have been Joshua Allen, who was at Yarmouth on the Cape until 1693 when he bought a thousand acres of land at the Ponds in Windham." Her manuscript is at the New England Historic Genealogical Society Library in Boston (G-All-4630 and G-All-4630A).

The names of the children of Joshua and Mary Allen, according to William L. Weaver in his History of Ancient Windham (1864, pp. 30-31) were inscribed upon her gravestone in Windham Centre Cemetery: John (b. Yarmouth 20 Sept. 1682 and mar. in Windham 20 June 1700 Mary Fargo); Joshua (living in 1706); Gideon (living in Newport, R.I., 1707); Miriam (mar. at Windham 16 Dec. 1702 Jonathan Simons); Yelverton; Samuel (d. at Coventry, Conn., 14 Oct. 1718, and had wife Mary); George (b. ca. 1690 and d. at Coventry, Conn., 31 May 1756); Eleazer (of Windham, mar. 8 March 1717/18, Mercy Case); and Sarah (b. at Windham, 7 Nov. 1695, and mar. 23 Oct. 1717 Daniel Badcock).

The fact that the given name Yelverton was used by Joshua and Mary Allen and the probability that they both originated in Yarmouth indicate the likelihood of a connection with the Yelverton Crowell family of Yarmouth. Giving additional weight to this argument is this Windham County, Conn., land record:

> To all persons to whom these presents shall come, Yelverton Gifford son of John Gifford, late of the town of Sandwich in the county of Barnstable, in ye province of the Massachusetts Bay . . . now deceased . . . to John Watson of Plymouth for &20 . . . all my tract and parcel of land which I have, situate, lying and being on ye east side of Connecticut River . . . and which was bequeathed to me by the said John Gifford, my father, in his last will and testament in writing dated the 9th day of April 1708, it being all the land which the said John Gifford, my father, did in his life-time purchase and obtain from my uncle William More of Windham, in the Colony of Connecticut aforesaid . . .
> (signed) Yelverton Gifford
> Dated 20th March 1713-14 (E:354)

That Yelverton^{3} Gifford calls William More his uncle in this deed is significant. In 1713/14, when it was recorded, William More's wife was Mary Allen, the widow of Joshua Allen, originally of Yarmouth. If Mary (Allen) More were a daughter of Yelverton Crowell of Yarmouth and a sister of Elishua (Crowell) Gifford, then William More's being called uncle by

More married third, Tamar Simons (The Granberry Family, comp. by Donald L. Jacobus, 1945, pp. 145-6). It is very likely that this Joshua Allen was the one of that name listed as a resident of Yarmouth in 1679 (The History of Cape Cod, Edward Freeman, 1869, 2:195). It was suggested by the late genealogist Bertha W. Clark in a paper first written in April of 1954 and revised in January of 1955, "A Sandwich-Dartmouth-North Kingston Allen Line," that Joshua Allen was one of the five "least" (unnamed) children of George Allen of Sandwich, who was buried 2 May 1648 (Records of the Colony of New Plymouth, Nathaniel B. Shurtleff, 1857, 8:6) and whose will, dated 7 June 1648, is at the Plymouth County Registry of Deeds (1:84). Miss Clark found "very strong reasons for thinking the eleventh son may have been Joshua Allen, who was at Yarmouth on the Cape until 1693 when he bought a thousand acres of land at the Ponds in Windham." Her manuscript is at the New England Historic Genealogical Society Library in Boston (G-All-4650 and G-All-4650A).

The names of the children of Joshua and Mary Allen, according to William L. Weaver in his History of Ancient Windham (1864, pp. 30-31) were inscribed upon her gravestone in Windham Centre Cemetery: John (b. The fact that the given name Yelverton was used by Joshua and Mary Allen and the probability that they both originated in Yarmouth indicate the likelihood of a connection with the Yelverton Crowell family of Yarmouth. Charles,
If you haven't already got this information perhaps it will help. I am also descended from the Abbe family through Keziah Walker and Gideon Abbe. I will fill you in on what I have found there under your query for Keziah. However, here is an excerpt from the "History of Ancient Windham" p 30-31.

ALLEN

There were many Allens in New England at an early period of its settlement, and branches of at least three families found their way to Windham at an early date.

Joshua Allen

Joshua Allen was an early settler of Winham, at the "Ponds," now Mansfield. He purchased, June 25, 1695. a 1,000 acre right there (No. 18) of Dandiel Wetherell, of New London, an original proprietor. His home lot was probably near the "Hollow." He, with his son John, were admitted inhabitants of the town in 1695, where he came from to Windham is not ascertained. Savage says there was a Joshua Allen of Yarmouth, who had son John, b. Sept. 20, 1672, and this may have been the same as our settler. The name of his wife was Mary. He d. Dec. 27, 1699; his wid. m William More or Moore, July 17, 1700, his 3rd wife, and d. Sept. 18, 1727. Their child., according to inscription on her gravestone at Windham, were: John, m. Mary Fargo, June 20, 1700, had son John, b. Nov. 23. 1701, when his record disappears; Joshua, was living in 1706, when he signed a deed--no further account; Gideon, was of newport, R.I., Nov. 29, 1707; Yelverton: Samuel, perhaps settled in Coventry, living in 1734; George, was of Windham, Nov. 8, 1731, when Joshua Allen, of Croten, calls him his uncle; Eleazer, m. Mercy Case, resided at Windham Center, and owned lot No. 3, (the origninal Cates Homestead), which he sold to Benjamin Lothrop, of Barnstable, for 300 pounds, Aug. 26, 1731. His will is dated Jan. 26, 1733-4, and proved Feb 26, same year. No chil named. He was a man of considerable wealth and standing; Miriam, m. Jonathan Simons, the ancestor of the Windham and Mansfield families of that name; Mary, m. Ebenezar Abbe, the ancestor of the most numerous branch of Windham and Mansfield Abbes; Sarah.

This will give you Mary's parents but that is all I have to date. Also, the Walkers of Union bought land from one Samuel Allen in 1729. There was a Samuel in from Braintree who settled in CT about that time. He is listed in the "History" as well so it is quite possible that our Abbe's,Allen's, and Walkers have known each other for quite some time before Keziah and Gideon were married.

Will get back to you with what I have done in researching the via e-mail.

its honored representatives are a U. S. Senator, a Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court, the Governor of a State, and many names prominent in the learned professions, while they furnished their full quota of patriot soldiers in the Revolution, and again in the war for the Union.

The Grays of this line have some strongly marked characteristics. They are often men of stalwart stature, personal prowess and commanding presence; courageous, patriotic, natural leaders among men, withal lovers of peace, not given to self-assertion, modest as well as brave, inclined to philosophical speculation, and rather reserved than effusive. A strong type of character distinctly perpetuated.

The original pilgrim of this branch of the Gray family, and the time of his arrival, do not so clearly appear as might be desired. The absolute data of record run back directly to the marriage of John Gray with Ruth Hebbard at Beverly, Mass., Apr. 28, 1704, their "intention of marriage" having previously been published "March ye 26th." The only authority prior to that is an an ancient Family Record of John Gray, grandson of John of Beverly, "Faithfully copied by his youngest son Reuben Gray," which is a very interesting document, the basis of all the investigations made, and found correct in almost every minute particular so far as it has been tested by official records as to the statements set forth. That quaint old record says, "My grandfather was born in the eastern part of New England. Died about A. D. 1713." As a matter of fact the 1st church records of Beverly give the date of his death as Feb. 29, 1712. This old record then says, "My grandmother, Ruth Hebbard, was born in Windham, Conn., and died there. My father John Gray was born in Beverly, in the province of Massachusetts. Died in Sharon, Conn., A. D. 1761, aged about 53 years," which is nearly correct. Again, "My mother, Anne Hebbard, was born in Windham, Conn., May, 1706. Died in Sharon, May, (28) 1746." Then follows a list of his brothers and sisters with dates of birth, marriage and death, all of which have been proved to be correct from town and church records. This all to substantiate the following important statement also by him made: "My great grandfather moved from England among the former settlers. Had six soms." A memorandum left by the late Dr. John F. Gray of New York, who had much interest in family matters, and who was a man careful and exact in his statements, says: "Grandfather (the John Gray whose record is above quoted) told me his great grandfather, our ancestor, John Gray (1), came direct from England. Been in British Navy; had lost an arm, was a pensioner, half-pay. Lion couchant his family crest. My grandfather inherited a sleeve button made after the death of the half-pay ancestor from the thimble he wore over the stump of his arm." This is a well authenticated tradition in the family, the full particulars of the loss of the sleeve button above referred to being handed down.

Not being able to disprove the foregoing statements, on the contrary something of record being found which might substantiate them, not the least of which is the fact that all the other statements made in the said record of John Gray have been found well authenticated, they are accepted as correct data, though less full than might be wished. It is not slight collateral proof that there were living at Beverly a George and an Isaac Gray, cotemporaneous with John, and a Joseph Gray was killed near there by the Indians in 1711, of whom no connection can be found elsewhere, and the strong presumption is that they were brothers. That would account for four of the six sons of John Gray (1).

The compiler of this work frankly admits that he was at first strongly of the opinion that the Beverly Grays were from Salem, there having been several families of that name there at an early day with numerous descendants, and the close proximity of the two places, formerly one, (Salem) gave strength to that assumption; but a careful and exhaustive research there made, including all public documents and records, family and otherwise, absolutely dispelled that belief, and convinced the writer most thoroughly that the statement of John Gray aforesaid was made upon absolute knowledge of the facts in the case, and it is therefore accepted, unquestioned. It only remains to be added that the character of the descendants of this line warrants the claim of such an ancestry.

to become representatives in U. S. Congress, a Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court, the Governors of a State, and many eminent practitioners in the learned professions, while they contributed their full quota of private soldiers to the Revolution, and again to the war for the Union.

The Grays of this line have some strongly marked characteristics. They are often men of stalwart stature, personal presence and commanding presence; courageous, persistent, natural leaders among men, skilled lovers of peace, not given to self-assertion, modest as well as brave, inclined to philosophical speculation and rather reserved than effusive. A strong type of character evidently perpetuated.

The original pilgrim of this branch of the Gray family and the time of his arrival, do not so clearly appear as might be desired. The earliest date of record yet found directly is the marriage of John Gray with Ruth Hubbard at Beverly, Mass., Apr. 28, 1709, their "intention of marriage" having previously been published "March 31, 1709." The only authority prior to that is an ancient Family Record of John Gray, grandson of John of Beverly, "Faithfully copied by his youngest son Reuben Gray," which is a very interesting document, the basis of all the investigations made, and found correct in almost every minute particular as far as it has been tested by official records or the statements of facts. That ancient old record says, "My grandfather was born in the western part of New England. Died about A. D. 1763." As a matter of fact the records of Beverly give the date of his death as Feb. 10, 1763. The old record then says, "My grandmother, Ruth Hubbard, was born in Wenham, Conn., and died there. My father John Gray was born in Beverly, in the province of Massachusetts. Died in Windham, Conn., A. D. 1787, aged about 75 years," which is [illegible] correct. Again: "My mother, Anna Hubbard, was born in Windham, Conn., May, 1716. Died in [illegible], Mass. [illegible] 1796." There follows a list of his brothers and sisters with dates of birth, marriage and death, all of which have been proved to be correct by town and church records. This is in addition to the following important statement also in the record: "My great grandfather moved from [illegible] being an [illegible] killed his man." A memorandum left by the late Mr. John F. Gray of New York, who had much interest in family matters, and who was a man careful and exact in his statements, says: "Grandfather (the John Gray whose record is above quoted) told me his great grandfather, our ancestor, John Gray (1) came from Devon, England. Was in British Navy; had his son with him, a [illegible]. Later [illegible] his family came. My grandfather inherited a [illegible] after the death of the [illegible] from the [illegible] of the [illegible]." This is a [illegible] traditional [illegible] in the family, the [illegible] of the [illegible] of the above [illegible] referred to being [illegible] there.

Not being able to discover the foregoing statements, on the contrary [illegible] of record being found which might indicate such facts, not the least of which is the fact that all the other statements made in the said record of John Gray have been found well authenticated, there are reasons to conclude that, though we fail [illegible] might be desired, it is not slight evidence that there were Grays at Beverly a [illegible] and no [illegible] with John, and a Joseph Gray was killed near there by the Indians in 1711, of whom no [illegible] can be found elsewhere, and the strong presumption is that they were brothers. That would account for some of the [illegible] of John Gray (1).

The interpretation of this as wholly admits that he was of that family of the [illegible] that had formerly [illegible] some time, there having been several families of that name there at an early day with [illegible] descendants, and the other [illegible] of the one [illegible] (formerly [illegible]), gave strength to that conception; but a careful and exhaustive research there made, though by all public documents and records, family and otherwise, ultimately dispelled that belief, and convinced the writer most thoroughly that the parentage of John Gray (1) was [illegible] upon [illegible] knowledge of the facts in the case, and it is therefore accepted [illegible]. It only remains to be added that the discovery of the [illegible] of this fact warrants the claim of such an ancestry.

JOHN GRAY (2.)

Of his birth, we only know that it was in "the eastern part of New England," probably about 1680, as he was married as already stated to Ruth Hebbard, at Beverly, Mass., Apr. 28, 1704. She was the daughter of John and Ruth Hebbard, and born Aug. 6, 1683. At this point the record of John Gray is again of interest. It says that Ruth Hebbard was born in Windham, Conn. At first this seems confusing because there were several families of Hebbards at Beverly, but the records of Windham give many of that name also there. Probably they were kindred. The records of Beverly show that the widow Ruth Gray married Benjamin Webster, Nov. 8, 1712. That she returned to Windham and died there, we have the statement of her grandson John Gray (3), while the fact that her son, John Gray, appears as there residing, is further evidence. Mr. Gray had died young, leaving two children, Ruth Gray b. Jan. 5, 1704, and John Gray (3) b. May 17, 1707. His life was brief with but little outward promise that he was to be the progenitor of such a numerous and vigorous race. Of the daughter, Ruth, there is no further trace. Of his supposed brothers, the records of Beverly concerning them and their descendants will appear in another place.

JOHN GRAY (3.)

Born in Beverly, Mass., May 17, 1707, he was less than five years old when his father died, and within a year his mother had remarried. The town records of Windham, Conn., show that John Gray was married at that place to Anne Hebbard, Feb'y 26th, 1728. Probably she was akin to him, being of the same name as his mother, and of the place of her nativity. The following children were born to them, the names and dates being copied from the town records of Windham, Lebanon, and Sharon, Conn.:

Anne, b. in Windham, Conn., Nov. 18, 1729; mar. Abraham Mudge, at Sharon, Jan. 26, 1753; d. near New Concord, Canaan, Columbia Co., N. Y., June 22, 1776.

Joseph, b. June 12, 1732, in Windham, Conn.; d. Mar. 29, 1796, in Greene, Chenango Co., N. Y.

Adah, b. in Windham, Mar. 18, 1734; d. in Litchfield, Conn., Nov. 1765.

Nathaniel, b. in Lebanon, Conn., Mar. 17, 1736; d. in Sherburne, Chenango Co., N. Y., June 24, 1810.

John, b. in Lebanon, Conn., Dec. 13, (N. S.) 1739; d. in Sherburne, N. Y., Sept. 22, 1822.

Ruth, b. in Sharon, Conn., June 4th, 1744; mar. Elder David Mudge; d. July, 1815.

Jerusha, b. in Sharon, Conn., Apr. 2, 1746; d. Apr. 21, 1746.

Anne Hebbard Gray died in Sharon, Conn., May 28, 1746, and John Gray (3) mar. second, the widow Catherine Gardner, of Sharon, Sept. 18, 1747, by whom were the following children:

Silas, b. in Sharon, Conn., May 8, 1748; d. at Princetown, Schenectady Co., N. Y., April, 1820.

Sarah, b. in Sharon, Apr. 4, 1750; mar. Oliver Bates at Berlin, N. Y.; was a member of the Baptist Church at that place in 1798; after the death of her husband, she removed with her son, Oliver Bates, Jr., to Genesee Co., N. Y.

Darius, b. in Sharon, June 18, 1752; d. in Sharon, Aug. 12, 1816.

William, b. in Sharon, May 22, 1754; d. in Sharon.

Daniel, b. in Sharon, June 4, 1756; d. in Berlin, Rensselaer Co., N. Y., May 23, 1830.

James, b. in Sharon, Aug. 3, 1759.

The dates and places of birth above given indicate frequent migrations. Between 1734 and 1736 John Gray must have removed with his then little family from Windham, where he had united with the Congregational Church in 1729, to Lebanon, a town adjoining on the south and in the neighboring county of New London. There he remained for several years, during which three children more were added to the family, when they took up the line of march for Sharon, Litchfield Co., on the western border and near the north line of the State of Connecticut. The first record of real estate purchased by him there is of

ALLEN.

There were many Allens in New England at an early period of its settlement, and branches of at least three families found their way to Windham at an early date.

JOSHUA ALLEN.

Joshua Allen was an early settler of Windham, at the "Ponds," now Mansfield. He purchased, June 25, 1695, a 1,000 acre right there (No. 18) of Daniel Wetherell, of New London, an original proprietor.

His home lot was probably near the "Hollow." He, with his son John, were admitted inhabitants of the town in 1695, where he came from to Windham is not ascertained. Savage says there was a Joshua Allen of Yarmouth, who had son John, b. Sept. 20, 1672, and this may have been the same as our settler. The name of his wife was Mary. He d. Dec. 27, 1699; his wid. m. William More or Moore, July 17, 1700, his 3d wife, and d. Sept. 18, 1727. Their chil., according to inscription on her gravestone at Windham, were: John, m. Mary Fargo, June 20, 1700, had son John, b. Nov. 23, 1701, when his record disappears; Joshua, was living in 1706, when he signed a deed—no further account; Gideon, was of Newport, R. I., Nov. 29, 1707; Yelverton; Samuel, perhaps settled in Coventry, living in 1734; George, was of Windham, Nov. 8, 1731, when Joshua Allen, of Groton, calls him his uncle; Eleazer, m. Mercy Case, resided at Windham Center, and owned lot No. 3, (the original Cates Homestead), which he sold to Benjamin Lothrop, of Barnstable, for £500, Aug. 26, 1731. His will is dated Jan. 26, 1733–4, and proved Feb. 26, same year. No chil. named. He was a man of considerable wealth and standing; Miriam, m. Jonathan Simons, the ancestor of the Windham and Mansfield families of that name; Mary, m. Ebenezer Abbe, the ancestor of the most numerous branch of Windham and Mansfield Abbes; Sarah.

WILLIAM ALLEN.

1. William Allen, from Salem, Mass., was the ancestor of the South Windham Allen family. In company with Samuel Hutchinson, also of Salem, he purchased of Rev. Samuel Whiting, for £120, May 30, 1709, 150 acres of land partly in Windham and partly in Lebanon, near "Pigeon Swamp." This tract probably included the homestead* of the late Amos D. Allen, a short distance west of South Windham village, where his father also lived. William Allen, the settler, wan a cooper.

We have not been able to trace out the progenitors of William Allen with certainty. It would seem probable that he might have been a grandson of William Allen, the settler at Salem 1626, who was a companion of Roger Conant. Joseph Allen, of Newport, had a son William, b. in 1673, (about the time of birth of our William) and if he was of Salem, (Mr. Savage says perhaps he owned land there 1661,) it may be that he was the father of our settler, whose eldest son was named Joseph.

William Allen, the settler, d. Dec. 15, 1747, aged 74 or 75. His will is dated Nov. 6, 1739. In it he names wife Mary, who d. 1666, and the following chil.: Joseph, named in the will of his brother William, June 26, 1782. [A Joseph Allen, of Windham, m. Mary Utley, Jan., 1723–4, and had Sarah, b. Aug. 21, 1726, Elizabeth, b. Aug. 21, 1728, Phineas, b. April 17, 1730, Samuel, b. April 4, 1732, William, b. May 9, 1735. This years as Gardner's swamp. The old farm house remained standing until October, 1854, when it was burned, having been set on fire by a disaffected farm hand. His homestead lot was in Peabody, and the house stood on the present corner of Central and Elm Streets. This was granted to him in 1643.

William Allen lived on what is now Essex Street, on the western corner of Elm Street.

Walter Price had a house on the northeast corner of Essex and Washington Streets, where Mr. Luscomb's drug store stands. John Woodberry occupied the lot next east of this.

Peter Palfrey lived on the present site of the Essex House until 1652, when he removed to Wakefield, where he lived near the present station of the Salem Branch in Wakefield, near Smith's Pond.

William Jeffery, another of the old planters at Cape Ann, lived at Jeffery's Creek, now Manchester by the Sea, and afterward went to Newport, R. I., where he died in 1675, aged 84.

The Old Planters' House, which was first erected at Cape Ann, and afterwards moved to Salem, must of necessity claim some of our attention this afternoon. Felt says: "After Roger Conant and others had houses erected at Naumkeag, Governor Endicott ordered the materials of another at Cape Ann, to be brought hither in 1628, and rebuilded for his own abode. This mansion so transferred was prevailingly of the model in England first called Tudor, and afterwards the Elizabethan, which was essentially Gothic." This house was mentioned by Rev. Francis Higginson when he came in 1629, as "a faire house newly built for the Governour."

Richard Brackenbury, of Beverly, many years later testified that he "came to Salem with Governour Endicott; that he found here old Goodman Norman and son, William Allen, Walter Knight and others; that these persons stated, that they came over years in Gardner's swamp. The old farm house remained standing until October, 1874, when it was burned, having been set on fire by a disaffected farm hand. His homestead lot was in Peabody, and the house stood on the present corner of Central and Elm Streets. This was granted to him in 1649.

William Allen lived on what is now Essex Street, on the western corner of Elm Street.

Walter Price had a house on the northeast corner of Essex and Washington Streets, where Mr. [illegible] drug store stands. John Woodberry occupied the lot next east of this.

Peter Palfrey lived on the present site of the Essex House until 1652, when he removed to Wakefield, where he lived near the present station of the Boston Branch in Wakefield, near Smith's Pond.

William Jeffrey, another of the old planters at Cape Ann, lived at Jeffrey's Creek, now Manchester by the Sea, and afterward went to Newport, R. I., where he died in 1675, aged 84.

Francis Higginson when he came in 1629, as "a faire house newly built for the Governour."

Richard Brackenbury, of Beverly, many years later testified that he "came to Salem with Governour Endicott; that he found here old Goodman Norman and son, William Allen, Walter Knight and others; that these persons stated, that they came over

Smith preached but seldom. He however delivered a sermon on the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination, which made the occasion one of most tender and affecting interest. The character of this excellent man is well and very truly summed up in the epitaph inscribed upon his monument, which is as follows:

The Rev. Cotton Mather Smith,
Born in Suffield, Oct. 16, 1731, ordained in Sharon, August 28, 1755, died Nov. 27, 1806, in the 76th year of his age and 52d of his ministry.

Sound in the faith, in life and conversation as becometh the Gospel; in doctrine incorrupt; in manner forcible and persuasive;
A fond husband; a tender father; an unvarying friend;
Having for more than fifty years, earnestly contended for the faith once delivered to the saints, he is gone to render his final account to the great captain of his salvation.
People of his charge, he still speaks to you in a voice awful as death, solemn as the grave,
Prepare to meet your God.

The Rev. David L. Perry was born at Harwinton, Conn. on the 21st day of June, 1777. He was the son of the Rev. David Perry, who was then the minister of Harwinton, but who was afterwards and for many years settled at Richmond, Mass. He was a graduate of Williams College, of the class of 1798, and for three years commencing in October, 1800, was a tutor in that institution. He studied divinity with the Rev. Dr. Backus, of Somers, Conn. and upon the unanimous invitation of the church and society in this town, he settled here in the ministry as before stated. Soon after his settlement, he married the only daughter of the Rev. Dr. Strong, minister of the first church in Hartford, by whom he had ten children. He continued in the ministry here until his death on the 25th day of October, 1835, having been suddenly cut off by a stroke of apoplexy. He was a man of very pure character, and of respectable talents, and he died, much lamented by the people of his charge, and by his brethren in the ministry. His wife survived him about five years.

THE CARTWRIGHT BURYING GROUND.

This burying ground is known as the Cartwright Burying Ground, from the fact that people of that name owned the land all about it, and many of them are buried there. It is on Sharon Mountain, and the road leading past it is known as Ellsworth East Street. It is well fenced and very well cared for, and is still used as a place of burial.

BURYING GROUND IN TICKNOR'S WOODS.

On the north side of the road leading from Ellsworth, East Street, to Ellsworth proper, is the original burying ground of the Ellsworth society.

When it was first used for that purpose is not known now. The last burial there was a daughter of Joseph Lord, Esq., and was probably not far from 1778. The grave being filled with water so impressed Mr. Lord with the necessity for a more suitable place of burial that he immediately gave the society the land for the present Ellsworth Cemetery. He died in 1778, and his headstone recites the fact that he was the first person buried in the ground he had given.

A forest of trees now covers the old place of burial, among which the rows of graves yet show. Many of them are marked by stones native to the place, only two having headstones with inscriptions. It would be interesting to know the names of these silent sleepers, but for that we must wait till the graves are opened and the dead arise. The two inscriptions found are:

Roberts, Mr. Mark, d. Feb. 17, 1767, in his 84th yr.
Roberts, Mr. Nathaniel, d. Jan. 16, 1766, in his 55th yr.
Mr. Samuel Everett of Ellsworth says that the following were buried in this place: Adonijah Maxam, Amos Sanford, Joseph Lovell, Nathaniel Chapman, Deborah Lord, wife of Isaiah Everett and dau. of Joseph Lord, Esq.

"2-II THE BENJAMINE SHENEMAN AND EVE ROUSH SHENEMAN LINE ".

2-II Benjamine Sheneman (Ben) was the youngest child of Frederick and Margaret Sheneman born in Somerset Co Pa March 8 I8I4 died probably in Eaton County Michigan in I882 at age 68 where he had made his home in his later years with his son Jonathan Wm. Ben was yet at home with his parents and about I2 years old when they moved from Somerset Co Pa to Holmes co Ohio in about I826. He married Eve Roush in Holmes co, she was born Dec 22 I8I7. In the I830 census he is home yet with his parents living in Mechanic Twp Holmes Co. In I840 he is shown living with his wife but no children yet in Mechanic twp near his parents. In I850 he is shown living in Mechanic twp Holmes Co at age 3I a laborer born in Pa wife age 30 her name is shown as Matilda (this is puzling) born in Ohio, they had then 4 children, Rebecca age 9, Eve age 7, Elizabeth age 5, and Jonathan age 3, these children all born in Ohio. My records show 8 children for Ben and his wife as follows, Eliza, Margaret Rebecca, Eva, Eliz, Jonathan Wm, George, Mandy, and Lucy. Rebecca married ? Zimmers no further record, Jonathan married Amelia Josephine Berlencourt they had II children, Charles W he married Neva Cary and they had children Lenora, Fred, Ruth, Pearl, Charles, and Victoria, 4-2 George, Mary Matilda, Arminda May she married Leander Long her 2nd cousin son of Mary and Nickolis Long No 3-I in the Fredrick Sheneman line. Sarah Eliz married Ralph Reese, Maude Luella married Ora Strang and we have just recently made contact with a member of this family Jennie Amelia Strang born July 2 I904 she married Franklin A Metzger they live in Michigan but says all her brothers and sisters were born in Lapaz Indiana they were Ruth, Mary, Amanda, Tressie and Sam Jonathan. 4-8 Margaret Leona married Ernest Halterman. 4-9 Fred Jonathan married Alma Steele they lived in North Liberty Ind and have children Robert, Vera, George, Henry dale and Don. Last I have heard Fred Jonathan is living with his son George in N liberty and he is now 8I. His wife Alma died Oct 29 I973. 4-I0 Dora Amelia married Harley Obriant. 4-II and Laura B the youngest of Jonathan Wm's family born in I897 died I970 married Willard Ziemendorf aparently he died and Laura re married to ? Henry, she lived in South Bend Ind and I had tried to contact her by mail with no success. My records show that she was born Oct I4 I897 died Aug I0 I970. Jonathan Wm's children were born some in Michigan and some in Indiana. Fred Jonathan and Dora Amelia I believe were born in Lapaz Ind. I remember well visiting with Fred Jonathan in I925 at the Sheneman reunion I think at that time he was known as "Young Fred". In the I880 census in Sunfield township Eaton Co Michigan is listed the following, Jonathan Shineman age 3I born in Ohio Amelia his wife age 25 born in O their children Chas W age 6 born in Ind, George B age 4 born in Mich, Amanda age 5 Mo and Benjamin the father age 65 born in Pa. This is the last record I have found of Ben Sheneman and he died in I882 so he may have died in Michigan. The son of Jonathan Wm George B Sheneman worked and farmed for Rosie Collins I am told.

This now comes to the end of the Sheneman story as I see it.

It has been a real pleasure to write this genealogy the most interesting one that I have ever written. It has taken me 48 years to compile the records for this and I hope they will serve some real benefit to the reader who has probably said "I wish I knew more about the Shenemans". I am quite sure there are some mistakes which I apologize for, none of us are perfect you know, and with this I will say God bless you and Good Bye.

Yours Truly

Allen D Sheneman

State of Ohio
YEAR COUNTY ORGANIZED

Although a county may have been established earlier, it did not function as a county until it was organized. The year shown on this map represents the year of organization and the records of the County Recorder should begin in that year. Since many counties were formed from existing counties, earlier records may exist in the parent county or surrounding counties. It is possible for a land-owner never to have moved, yet various records may show four different counties of residence.

The stuff you sent is great, but I don't understand where you got it on Family Tree Maker. I have just the five "pre-1600 to present" CD's that came with it plus Selected US/Intl Marriage Records, 1340-1980, Soc. Sec. deaths and the Family Finder Indexes (Indices?). Is it on those or did you get some other disks?

I have had great luck with my Bloomfield family on familysearch.org, the Mormon site. The mother of my grandfather Becker who married Delila Zimmer was a Bloomfield and it was great fun to work in that one, as it goes back to a "Pilgrim" (notated that way following his name), in fact a couple of them. Not the 1620 boat but another boat in 1629 or 1630 carried a Blossom family and a Fitzrandolph family who are in that line. There is one little gap a few generations down, though. We have an Ezekial Bloomfield marrying Elizabeth Skinner; they have Reuben. All that is going on in Massachusetts and New Jersey. Then he drops from sight but there is a Skinner Bloomfield then in Kentucky who later shows up in Ohio, Marion County. And he is our line. I think I need some censuses. Part of this was given to Myrtis (so it's mine!) by a librarian in the Ft. Wayne library whose husband is related in that line too. The gap is probably one generation.

Using your spelling/s was a big help in the Mormon site. Schonemans just fell out and going back even farther than Traugott Gottlob. What a name!!

Thank you very much!

Dear Florian,

Thank you so very much for the information, but also for the email contact. It was wonderful to see you, your wife, and sister in Wenatchee.

I send my best wishes to you.

Sincerely,

sort of disintegrated and is now called the Henry Becker reunion. They are all Zimmers, however. It is held in Kimmel at a fishing, hunting place near an overpass. It might be an interesting scene for you. I've been there the last two years but am not planning on going back this year. Myrtis always goes and could give you directions: Myrtis Justiniano, 58954 Melrose Place, Elkhart 46517. Tel: (219)875-8891. Last year I invited Mary Jo Zimmer Dey from Ohio and gave her directions. I really expected her to show, but she didn't.

Enough for now, I think. I am anxious to hear about the possible Cripe connection.

State of Ohio
YEAR COUNTY ORGANIZED

Although a county may have been established earlier, it did not function as a county until it was organized. The year shown on this map represents the year of organization and the records of the County Recorder should begin in that year. Since many counties were formed from existing counties, earlier records may exist in the parent county or surrounding counties. It is possible for a land-owner never to have moved, yet various records may show four different counties of residence.

Arleen:

Yes your Eliphalet was born 23 Feb 1743 married Elfleda Lyon of Woodstock,Conn....there are 5 pages of JANE genealogy.....I could send you copy if you want to pay for postage and copying.

The JANE traces back to William Janes born in Essex Co.,England about 1610.....he arrived in New Haven,Conn 1637. and removed to Northampton,Mass.in 1656....and later removed to Squakeag which happens to be my home town of Northfield,Mass., in 1673. When the Indians destroyed Squakeag in 1675, he returned to Northampton until he died in 1690.

It was his grandson,William [Abel,William], who moved to Brimfield from Lebanon,Conn, roughly around 1730.

I remember when I was in my early teens, we were at the drive-in movies [remember them!] and we could see a glow in the distance and in the morning we found out it was the JANES house that burned. If someone has the History of Northfield, I do recall seeing a picture of the house.

Chapter I

MEET THE JANES

Pioneers of every age move out into the unknown, seeking something better. A better home for themselves and their families. A better chance for a prosperous future. The proverbial fame and fortune.

But when William JANES and his young family set out on the treacherous journey across the Atlantic in 1637, they were looking for freedom—freedom to worship. Freedom from persecution by religious tyrants who during the reign of Charles I, sought to put down the "radical" religious sect that believed in purity of the scriptures—the Puritans.

Leader of the small religious band emigrating to the New England coast on the ship "Hector" and her sister ship "Theophilus" was Rev. John Davenport. Most of the colony had been members of Rev. Davenport's church on Coleman Street in London. One historian described the group as "composed principally of merchants of London whose wealth and position prepared them to come under better auspices than any company which had preceded them."[1]

William Janes was probably educated for the ministry in England, and in the new colony he was a teaching-elder whose duty it was to teach and interpret the doctrine of the church. His was a vital role. Doctrine was finely interpreted, strictly enforced, and a citizen of a Puritan community had to know the proper interpretation of the Scriptures, down to the last thou-shalt-not, because he was expected to live by it every hour of every day.

Full citizenship—land ownership, voting and other privileges—was limited to Church members, those who knew and understood the doctrine, then lived by it. They could be voted in or out of the Church by other members—people who observed them every day—so there was no chance to practice only a Sunday religion. In some of the colonies, only about one adult in six was admitted to membership. Obviously, then, the teaching-elder played an important part.

He was also needed for another role: that of educating the young. Now that the Puritans had escaped the "evil" doctrines of the Anglican churches, they had to work to keep their religion pure. This meant educating their own ministers as well as other church and civic leaders.

No doubt William Janes knew that this was to be his function when he planned the long journey. He was an educated young man and well indoctrinated in the pure Scriptures. Clearly he would be expected to pass along his knowledge to the young people of the new colony who would in turn perpetuate learning.

William was about 27 years old at the time he came to the new land. Born in County Essex, England, 30 Sep. 1610, he was from an educated and probably wealthy family. They likely came from the French deJEAN or deJEANNE family generations earlier, the name being Anglicized by dropping the "de." In some instances, our William signed his name JEANES and other times JANES. It was pronounced the same way, the "a" as in

"lane" or "cane." At least one branch changed the spelling to JEANS or JEAN, but pronounced it JANES. Others have added a letter, making the name JAYNES. And it is not uncommon to find two different spellings in the same handwritten document.

The old records, of course, were all hand written and often difficult to read. In transcribing these to printed lists—and to history—careless historians have all but wiped out the JANES records. The name is most frequently changed to JONES or JAMES on census lists.

William Jeanes

According to The JANES FAMILY HISTORY, our William, the emigrant, descends from Guido de Janes, a general of the French Confederation, who accompanied Henry II to England in 1154. For his valor and service, this Janes received from the King the manor of Kirtland or Kirtling in Cambridgeshire. Some of these estates were still in the family name in the mid-1800's. A grandson of Gen. Janes, Geoffry de Janes, took up arms with Baldwin, count of Flanders, about 1200-04, helping pave the way for Baldwin to become king of Jerusalem. Geoffry returned to England, then with his son, Guy or Guido de Janes, made three pilgrimages to the Holy Land. The escallop shells on the coat of arms commemorate those events.[2] Links between these military de Janes and our first American ancestors are not known.

With young William on the trip to America were his wife Mary—her maiden name is not known—and their son Joseph who was only one year old when they began the journey. The congregation landed near Boston 3 June 1637, and was greeted with open arms by settlers there.[3] With talents and skills as well as financial backing, they were urged to remain with the Massachusetts Colony. Rev. Davenport was a guest in the home of Rev. John Cotton (probably others from the "Hector" were also taken in by church members) and became involved in a religious dispute then going on. The group stayed several months—probably with friends from the "old country" or relatives, perhaps—and must have been well respected. The Charlestown company offered them incentives to settle there. Newbury was ready to give them the whole town—any place that was free.[4]

Perhaps they tired of the somewhat petty internal argument among their fellow Christians and wanted to begin a "true" scriptural community, or possibly they wanted some distance between themselves and a hostile English governor who was expected to arrive that summer. In any case, when the religious refugees heard of a beautiful harbor down the coast—a broad wooded land and fertile green meadows, the spot bounded on two sides by a river and protected on the north by huge cliffs—it sounded like the "Haven" they were seeking. Called QUINNIPIAC by the friendly Indians who hunted through the woods, this was to become the first American home for Rev. Davenport's weary congregation—their New Haven, now a metropolis in Connecticut.

For more than a year they had been on the move. Babies had been born, loved ones had died. There must have been relief, mixed with prayerful misgivings, when they sailed out of Boston Harbor, March 30, 1638. Prayers of thanksgiving and entreaties for the Lord's guidance and protection in the raw, new land were offered when they reached their destination April 16.

The settlers wasted no time in laying out the town and beginning their new homes. A square in the center of the settlement was set aside for the meeting house—the first public building to be erected. It served as a place for worship on the Sabbath and as a town hall, court room and school house the rest of the week. Lots for homes were set off surrounding the public square. Farm lands were located outside the town, of course, but the newcomers built their homes close together for safety and for social reasons. William and Mary took a corner lot (139' x 235') adjoining the square at the southwest corner (Church and Chapel Streets). As the teaching-elder he needed to be close to the church.

NEW HAVEN
IN

When the colonists held their official meeting in Newman's barn, June 4, 1639, the covenant was signed by 419 persons, including William JEANES. They organized a civil government, drew up laws, and set forth regulations for their new colony. In August, the church was officially constituted. Rev. Davenport was the pastor and Theophilus Eaton, the retired merchant and one of the wealthiest men in the colony, was elected Governor of the New Haven Colony.

Safely settled—for awhile, at least—the Janes could begin to help populate the new land. In the next 20 years, they had eleven more children.

The Janes of New Haven were not wealthy, but they probably lived better than most of the colonists in New England. William taught the religious doctrine of the Bible—the "pure Scripture"—and provided instruction for certain youngsters as well. Records show the Colony paid him only 10 pounds annually; probably he was paid extra for teaching and had some income from home.

He did not own a great deal of land. "New Haven Records" for 1643 (p. 48) lists "Will. JEANES" as having five in family, an estate of 150 pounds, 20 acres of land in the "first division," 4 in the "neck," 10 in the "Meadow" and 40 acres in the "second division." Many of the others held as much as 300-700 acres. Obviously, then, William did not seek to make all of his income from the land.[5]

For a short time in 1652, William JEANES went to Wethersfield where he had been invited to teach, but he was soon back in New Haven.[5] About 1656 with Mary and their eight or nine children—William, Jr., was probably about two years old at the time and his younger sister Rebecca was an infant—William joined a group of pioneers moving up the Connecticut River valley. He was among 24 petitioners to sign for the settlement of the fertile "Nan-o-tuck Plantation," later the site of Northampton, Mass.[6] Only eight of the original 24 actually settled there: Wm. JANES, Edw. ELMORE, Wm. MILLER, Thos. ROOT, Wm. CLARK, Wm. HOLTON, Robert BARTLETT, and John WEBB. The petition asked for the place so they could raise corn and cattle to provide for themselves and others "the place promising in an ordinary way of God's Providence a comfortable subsistance, whereby people may live, and attend upon God in his holy ordinances without distraction."

The petition was granted by the General Court 18 May 1653 and the land was purchased from the Indians for "100 fathom of Wampus by Sale and for Ten coats (besides some small gifts)." Twenty families could be accommodated with 40 acres each. Before a settler could sell or rent his land, he had to be a resident for four years. If he left before the four years was up, he relinquished all rights to his claim.[7] Eleazer MATHERS was selected as minister, the settlers built a church and a home for him, then set about their other business. Wm. JANES was the teaching-elder.

The home lots of the first settlers were located near what later became Market, Pleasant, King and Hawley streets in Northampton. Later the town spread west of the "old church" and south of Mill River. William built a home for his family on land that was later the home of the grandfather of Gov. Caleb Strong and where many years later the Connecticut River Railroad built a depot.

In June of 1660, three men were "chosen by the Town" to "measure out" 41 acres of land to be used as income property for the payment of parish expenses. William Jeanes, Joseph Parsons and Robert Bartlett were selected for the job. When the Northampton church was formally established and the covenant adopted April 18, 1661, Wm. JEANES was among those who "subscribed his name thereunto." He was also named recorder of lands for some 20 years and Northampton records contained hundreds of pages in his handwriting.[8] At that time, the population of Northampton was nearly 300.

Not only did the pioneers of Northampton manifest an interest in religious matters, but the schools also claimed their early attention. In 1666, William Jeanes was hired by the town to teach school one year, and "for his encouragement and satisfaction for his attendance upon that work" the town and himself came to this conclusion and agreement: "For the year he is to have out of the Towne Stock Ten Pounds, which the Townsmen promise to pay; Four pence per week for such as are in the primmer and other English books; Six pence per week to learn Audience-writing, casting accounts; In case there be a neglect that they do not come constantly, 3 days shall be accounted a week."[9]

But life in the new colony was not without tragedy. After bearing her twelfth child and weathering the many storms of colonial pioneering, Mary Janes died, April 4, 1662.[10] Side by side, William and Mary had fought for their religious beliefs, faced—and conquered—the wilderness, led the way in founding new settlements, two new towns, and raised their young ones. Now he was alone, with four or five children under 10 years of age.

Necessity required rapid remarriage in colonial days and before the year was out, William married Hannah Bascom BROUGHTON, young widow of John Broughton. They were married 20 Nov. 1662 and by the following October the first of their four children was born. Thus, by his two wives, William Janes fathered 16 children.

Seemingly, the congregations that settled New Haven and Northampton as well as the groups that went north had experienced very little trouble from the Indians. The colonists had purchased lands from the natives, settling affairs to the satisfaction of both—or so they thought—and friendly trading had continued for some 40 years.

The story of the Indian wars is too long for complete coverage here, but the troubles began in the 1670's with "King Phillip's" war on the Englishmen. At first, the threat seemed remote to the settlement at Northampton, but raids increased on the towns along the Connecticut River. News of killings—often one or two men caught out alone, sometimes half a dozen or more—soon made it clear that the danger was real. For the next 25 years, the growing Janes family—William, his sons and daughters as they married and built homes of their own—lived in constant dread of an Indian attack. All around them, homes were burned, crops destroyed, cattle slaughtered, and people killed. But the teaching and the ministering went on much the same.

The year 1673 saw William Janes setting out again—daring the unknown to help venturesome pioneers found yet another church and a town. Some 25 families moved up the Connecticut River to found Northfield Mass. The first Sabbath of June 1673—the first Lord's day after their arrival—Elder Janes preached the sermon under the shade of an oak tree.[11]

Alert to the ever-present danger from Indian raiders, the settlers built a stockade around their cluster of homes. But is was not protection enough. William's sons, Ebenezer and Jonathan, about 17 and 18 years old, were both killed by Indians on the same day in an attack in September 1675.[12]

When the colonists held their official meeting in Newman's barn, June 4, 1639, the covenant was signed by 111 persons, including William JEANES. They organized a civil government, drew up laws, and set forth regulations for their new colony. In August, the church was officially constituted. Rev. Davenport was the pastor and Theophilus Eaton, the retired merchant and one of the wealthiest men in the colony, was elected Governor of the New Haven Colony.

Safely settled—for awhile, at least—the Janes could begin to help populate the new land. In the next 20 years, they had eleven more children.

The Janes of New Haven were not wealthy, but they probably lived better than most of the colonists in New England. William taught the religious doctrine of the Bible—the "pure Scriptures"—and provided instruction for certain youngsters as well. Records show the Colony paid him only 10 pounds annually; probably he was paid extra for teaching and had some income from home.

He did not own a great deal of land. "New Haven Records" for 1643 (p. 93) lists "WILL JEANES" as having five in family, an estate of 100 pounds, 28 acres of land in the "First division," 4 in the "neck," 10 in the "Meadow" and 40 acres in the "second division." Many of the others had as much as 300-700 acres. Obviously, then, William did not seek to make all of his income from the land.

For a short time in 1652, William JEANES went to Wethersfield where he had been invited to teach, but he was soon back in New Haven. About 1656 with Mary and their eight or nine children—William, Jr, was probably about two years old at the time and his younger sister Rebecca was an infant—William joined a group of pioneers moving up the Connecticut River valley. He was among 24 petitioners to sign for the settlement of the fertile "Nonotuck Plantation," later the site of Northampton, Mass. Only eight of the original 24 actually settled there: Wm. JANES, Edw. ELMORE, Wm. MILLER, Thos. ROOT, Wm. CLARK, Wm. HOLTON, Robert BARTLETT, and John WEBB. The petition asked for the place so they could raise corn and cattle to provide for themselves and others "the place promising in an ordinary way of God's Providence a comfortable subsistence, whereby people may live, and attend upon God in his holy ordinances without distraction."

The petition was granted by the General Court 18 May 1653 and the land was purchased from the Indians for "the tuition of Wampum by Eels and for Ten coats (besides some small gifts)." Twenty families could be accommodated with 40 acres each. Before a settler could sell or rent his land, he had to be a resident for four years. If he left before the four years was up, he relinquished all rights to his claim. Eleazer MATHER was selected as minister, the settlers built a church and a home for him, then set about their other business. Wm. JANES was the reading-clerk.

The home lots of the first settlers were located near what later became Market, Pleasant, King and Hawley streets in Northampton. Later the town spread west of the "old church" and south of Mill River. William built a home for his family on land that was later the home of the grandfather of Gov. Caleb Strong and where many years later the Connecticut River Railroad built a depot.

In June of 1660, three men were "chosen by the Towne" to "measure out" 41 acres of land to be used as income property for the payment of parish expenses. William Jeanes, Joseph Parsons and Robert Bartlett were selected for the job. When the Northampton church was formally established a the covenant adopted April 18, 1661, Wm. JEANES was among those wh

"subscribed his name thereunto." He was also named recorder of lands fo some 20 years and Northampton records contained hundreds of pages i his handwriting. At that time, the population of Northampton wa nearly 200.

Not only did the pioneers of Northampton manifest an interest in re ligious matters, but the schools also claimed their early attention. In 166
William Janes was hired by the town to teach school one year, and "fo the encouragement and satisfaction for his attendance upon that work" th town and himself came to this conclusion and agreement: "For the year i is to have out of the Towne Stock Ten Pounds, which the Towne promises to pay; Four pence per week for such as are in the primmer an other English books; Six pence per week to learn Arithmetic—writing, cast ing accounts; In case there be a neglect that they do not come constantly 2 days shall be accounted a week."

Yet life in the new colony was not without tragedy. After bearing he twelfth child and weathering the many storms of colonial pioneering, Mary Janes died, April 4, 1662. Side by side William and Mary had fought fo their religious beliefs, faced—and conquered—the wilderness, led the way in founding new settlements, two new towns, and raised their young ones
Now he was alone, with four or five children under 10 years of age.

Necessity required rapid remarriage in colonial days and before the yea was out, William married Hannah Bascom BROUGHTON, young widow of John Broughton. They were married 20 Nov. 1662 and by the following

Some 20 families moved up the Connecticut River to found Northfield, Mass. The houses and fields were destroyed and the settlers driven back to Northampton.

It was a sad year for William. Now about 65 years old, his sons dead, his home and belongings lost to the Indians, he must have suffered despair. His son Jeremiah had died in March, the two sons were killed in September, and on October 28, his son Jacob died in New Haven. But he lived for 15 more years—until 1690—remaining in Northampton among his friends and family. But his pioneering days were over.[13]

Threats from the Indians continued—even in the larger towns. Pickets were put up around Northampton as a line of defense and men joined their fellows from nearby towns in an army of sorts for protection. In March, 1676, Indians broke through defenses at Northfield, killed six persons and burned a number of homes. In the bloody battle at Deerfield 19 May 1676, 15 Northampton residents were killed.

Some of the younger Janes had married and lived in even greater danger in tiny villages nearby. And, although Elder Janes did not live to see it, his family was to be cut down again by Indians. In May of 1704, a band of Indians attacked the little five-family village of Puokhumuck or Pascomac, later part of Southampton. It was just before daylight when they set fire to the pickets surrounding the home of Benoni JONES. A young woman named Patience WEBB looked out the window to see what was happening and was shot in the head. The rest of the village surrendered.

Nineteen persons were killed—Samuel Janes, his wife and three children (He was the first born of William Janes and Hannah Broughton), Benoni Jones and his two children, Miss Webb, Moses Hutchinson and one child, and four children of Benjamin JANES (grandchildren of William and Hannah). John Searl, husband of Ruth JANES,[14] was also killed as were three of their children. Ruth was severely wounded, but was rescued and later recovered. Their son Elisha, age 9, was taken to Canada where he remained a captive of the Indians for many years.

As the prisoners were being marched and dragged away from the burning village, Benjamin managed to drop back, then slip away from his captors. Darting down a creek, hidden by bushes, he found a skiff and headed for Northampton to alert the town.

Hastily aroused men of the town sped after the Indians. On the top of Pomeroy's mountain they found Benjamin's wife Hannah. She had been knocked on the head, scalped and left for dead. Amazingly, after many months, she recovered and lived to be 80 years old![15] But the battle went on.

Throughout his long life—some 80 years—William Janes struggled against great odds—against persecution for his religious beliefs, against the dangers of the Atlantic, against cold and hunger and disease, as he carved churches, towns and schools out of the wilderness. With his Bible and his family beside him, he went unafraid.

The greatest toll was taken by the hostile Indians, those whose land the settlers sought to claim, the people they sought to tame. Our ancestor—a gentle man who valued learning and knowledge of the Scriptures and devoted his life to teaching—looked only for a peaceful place where he could offer his talent to his God. Yet he lost heavily to the Indians—three sons killed, 10 grandchildren killed, one daughter-in-law killed and another scalped, one daughter captured and badly wounded before her rescue.

Fortunately, at least two sons lived to marry and beget those who begat those who begat. . . .

JANES, D.D., AND OTHER BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES by Rev. Frederick Janes; New York: John H. Dingman (C. Scribner & Co.) 1868, 419 pp. Rev. Janes spent many years doing research for this book, gathering historical data, checking family records, and compiling details from family members still living in the mid-1800's. Even though he rarely documented his sources, his account is summarized here as he wrote it. Notes from existing histories and records are added in this volume for verification whenever possible. Numbers given to individuals in the genealogy are also from Rev. Janes' book with digits added as necessary for persons not listed.

[2] See also HISTORY OF EASTHAMPTON by James Russell TRUMBULL, 1866, "Genealogy of the Janes Family" pp 173/4: "This family originally came from Kirtling, in the county of Cambridge, England, where it had been seated in 1235, when William de Janes, in fulfillment of a vow, made a pilgrimage to the tomb of our Saviour at Jerusalem.

"The coat of arms of the family is thus described:—Arms—Argent—a lion rampant —azure—between three escallop shells—gules—Crest—Out of a ducal, coronet, gold, a demi-lion, rampant—azure—holding between the paws an escallop shell-gules.

"The lion rampant in the arms, shows that the ancestor had won a battle, while in command of the forces engaged. The escallop shells show that he had made a pilgrimage to the Holy Land. The ducal coronet was given to those who held command in the armies of the sovereign duke of the French Confederation.

"William Janes, a native of Cambridge, England, came to this country from Essex, and first established himself in New Haven Conn., probably as early as 1638 . . . ."

See also Trumbull's HISTORY OF NORTHAMPTON, MASSACHUSETTS/FROM ITS SETTLEMENT IN 1654, Press of Gazette Printing Co., 1898, p 192; "William Jeanes or Janes came from England in 1637, settled in New Haven, June 4, 1639, and was admitted a freeman in 1648. He was by profession a schoolmaster, and taught in New Haven for a number of years . . . ."

[3] Although many sources list William Jeanes as one of the early settlers of New Haven, there is disagreement on the exact dates. NEW HAVEN GENEALOGICAL MAGAZINE, Vol LV, Number 3, p 491, lists "Wm. Janes, school teacher, New Haven, 1651; mov to Northampton 1667, still living there in 1681"; VITAL RECORDS OF NEW HAVEN 1649-1750, Vol I, "Births, Marriages and Deaths," lists birth of William's dau Ruth 15 Feb 1649; DIRECTORY OF ANCESTRAL HEADS OF NEW ENGLAND FAMILIES, 1620-1750, compiled by Frank R. Holmes, shows "JANE, Wm, preacher, County Essex, England, 1610, came to New Haven Ct., 1643." Also listed is his son, Wm. JANES, JEANES.

New Haven Records show that William JEANES was one of the signers of the fundamental agreement of "plantation covenant" when it was adopted by the first settlers at a meeting in Newman's barn in June 1639. He is listed as first owner (by Allotment) of the lot at the corner of Church and Chapel streets, about 139 feet on Church street and 235 feet along Chapel street, which he held for nine years—1639-1648. With permission of the General Court, he sold the property to John MEIGS or MEGGS who lived there in the house built by Jeanes for 10 years. The property next reverted to the colony for a short time, then was purchased by Jervis Boykin. In 1764 the site was purchased by Richard Cutler who kept it for 46 years, selling the east end of the lot to Dr. Hez. Beardslee of Hartford in 1782. In 1752, a small piece of the land was bought by the Episcopal Church for the first building of that denomination in New Haven. For a more complete account, see "History of the Cutler Lot," by Henry White, Esq, president of the New Haven Historical Society, a paper read 29 Dec 1862. Evidently Wm. Jeanes returned to New Haven for a period of two or three years and taught school there before moving to Northampton about 1655/6. Where he lived during that period is not known.

[5] Although he probably taught school almost from the time he arrived in New Haven, he may have done this in addition to his church duties for little or no fee for awhile. Court proceedings, March 1651, note: "It was propounded to know whether the towne would allow any sollary (salary) to Mr. Janes for teaching schoole; much debate was about it, but nothing was ordered in it at present; only it was propounded to him that if the Towne would allowe hime 10' a yeare whether he would not goe on to teach, and take the rest of (from) the parrents of the children of ye quarter, but he returned no answer." At the court session 1 Apr 1651, the subject came up again: "For the incouragement of Mr. Janes in teaching scoole, the Court ordered that he should have 10' for this yeare, to be paid him out of the Towne Treasury, the yeare to begine when he began to teach wch was the ...., the rest he is to take of the parrents of the children that he teacheth, by the quarter, to make him up a just recompence for his paines." At the next meeting, it was reported that "Mr. Janes informed the Towne that he is offered a considerable maintaynance to goe to Wethersfield to teach scoole, yet if the Towne will settle that 10' a yeare upon him formerly ordered, he is willing to stay here in the work hee is. Whereupon it was voted that for 3 yeares he have 10' a year as formerly ordered, and upon ye same termes as before."

For some reason, in spite of the action of the Court, he took the position at Wethersfield anyway, probably leaving New Haven in the spring or early summer of 1651. Word must have filtered back that he was not too happy with his new job—possibly because of the remoteness of the newer settlement or possibly danger from Indians—because the Court of New Haven, 8 Oct 1651 related that Mr. Janes had been informed that the town wanted him back. But he "desired them to proceede no further in it at this time, for he was not sure he shall gett free where hee is; and if he does, he doubts it will not be before winter; therefore no more was done in it at present." The following fall, he was back. At a called meeting of the General Court of New Haven, 8 Nov 1652, to discuss hiring a school master, the Governor reported that he had applications from John Bowers of Cambridge (Harvard, 1649) and Joseph Rowlandson of Ipswich (Harvard 1652), but "how they will succede hee knowes not." Evidently the Governor had some doubts about the young graduates, because, he continued, "now Mr. Janes is come to the Towne and is willing to come heither again if he may have incouragement." Janes had been told about the other applicants and that they wanted to hold Latin schools. If one of them should be hired, he had told the Governor, he would still "be willing to teach boyes and girles to read and wright, if the Towne thought fit. . . . The Towne generally was willing to incourage Mr. Janes his comeing, and would allow him at least 10 pounds a yeare out of the Treasury, and the rest he might take of the parrents of the children he teacheth by the quarter as he did before, to make it up a comfortable maintaynance."

[6] See HISTORY OF THE CONNECTICUT VALLEY in Mass., Vol I, Philadelphia: Louis H. Everts, p 195. Among the 71 persons signing the church covenant at Northampton 8 Apr 1661 "by those that begun that worke and afterward by such as were admitted into Ch. estate and subscribed their names thereunto" were William Jeanes, Thomas and Avis Bascom (prob. parents of Hannah), all admitted 14 May 1661. At that time, it was called the First Church of Christ, actually part of the Congregational denomination. Wm. Janes was voted an inhabitant of Northampton 25 Jun 1657; voted recorder of lands 10 Jan 1658; voted to transcribe old records 18 Feb 1660; voted a house lot of two acres 17 Jun 1660; Elisha Janes, his son, was voted a town grant of 4 acres if he built a house on it within one year, but Elisha died suddenly at Springfield, Ms. a month later.

Among settlers of Northampton 1653-1658 listed by Trumbull are Joseph Janes, 2 A home lot, and 8 A meadow land; William Jeanes, Teacher, 2 A home lot, and 34 A meadow land. Listed among those making contributions from Northampton to Harvard College, "Mr. Jeans, payd for him selfe and toe sowns (2 sons) in Carttinge, 10 shillings." Only 10 persons gave more. Luft Clarke gave 10 bushels of wheat worth 1 pound, 2 shillings. (Appendix A). Trumbull (History of Northampton, p 192) says that Wm. Janes did not return to New Haven from Wethersfield, but went directly to Northampton in 1656 where he held home lots" on the easterly side of Pleasant Street." Trumbull earlier (p 6) claimed that "Wm. JEANES of New Haven" was one of 24 persons who petitioned the General Court of Massachusetts for liberty "to plant, possess, and inhabit Nanotuck" May 1653.

Trumbull added (p 192), "Mr. Jeanes appears to have been a man of more than ordinary ability, and was sufficiently educated for the grade of schools he was called upon to teach. An excellent penman, he was chosen recorder of lands in 1657, which office he continued to hold for many years. He it was who made the first entry on the church book of records, and the first thirteen pages of that volume, written in a clear, plain and even hand, are still as legible as when they were inscribed nearly 250 years ago."

[8] Trumbull, NORTHAMPTON, p 54. "William Janes was made the town recorder 19th February 1660. Mr. Janes began his records with the preceding vote . . . He then goes back to June 1657, ignoring all business that had been transacted in the previous years.

. . . In later years this second book was copied in a fair and legible manner, but the quaint and venerable appearance of the original, as well as the amusing interest of its execrable orthography, are missing." Evidently Janes translated the "quaint" early records into readable form and destroyed the original copy.

[10] Trumbull, NORTHAMPTON, p. 125. "Three years after when the new meeting house was located upon another site, it was concluded to change the position of the burying ground . . . ." A committee chosen to find a "convinent place" for it reported 23 Apr 1662 "in favor of a position on Bridge Street 'at the furtherest corner of the sequestered Ministers Lott where Mrs. Jeanes was buried.' Mary, wife of William Janes, died April 4, 1662, and was probably buried there in anticipation of the determination to use this lot for such a purpose . . . . Since that time it has been several times enlarged."

[11] Trumbull, NORTHAMPTON, pp 192-3 says Wm. Jeanes went to Northfield 1670, "One of the earliest settlers of Northfield, he carried on religious exercises there, in the capacity of Teaching Elder, till the town was destroyed by the Indians, in 1675. There is a tradition that divine services were held in the open air before a meeting house was built, and that during the first summer, Elder Jeanes preached under an oak tree. He did not return to Northfield after it was first abandoned . . . ."

[12] Ibid, p 255. "On the 2d of September, while the fires of Deerfield were still smouldering, Northfield was assailed by the Nipmucks and Wampanoags. A party at work in the meadows was surprised and eight of their number killed . . . . Ebenezer and Jonathon Janes were sons of William Janes, from fourteen to sixteen years old." Rev. Janes lists them as 17 and 18 years at the time.

[13] Ibid, pp 414-5. According to Trumbull, a "widespread and virulent malady" swept through the Colony of Ct. 1689-91, the epidemic "found its way up the river, and among its victims were many prominent and influential men." Included in the list of "older and most eminent citizens" of Northampton were Lt. William Clarke, Wm. Miller, Samuel Davis, Lt. John Lyman, Alexander Edwards, Maj. Aaron Cook, David Burt and William Janes.

[14] There is disagreement as to which John Searl—Jr. or Sr.—was killed that day. Rev. Janes, pp 44-46, says among those killed were John Searle and three children; Elisha, s of John Searle, was taken prisoner; Ruth Janes Searle "was the victim of the Pascomac massacre, severely wounded, but afterwards recovered, being rescued from the Indians, as they were fleeing before their white pursuers." In Trumbull's Northampton, pp 495-6, he lists among the 19 killed "John Searle and three children, viz: Abigail aged seven, John aged four, and Caleb aged two . . . ." and among those captured was Elisha Searl, 9, s of John. In his History of Easthampton, p 174, Trumbull says Wm. Jeanes' dau Ruth "married the first John Searl of Northampton, whose son John, together with three children, were killed by the Indians at Pascommuck, at the time of the massacre there." Nor do the names of the Searl (e) children correspond. Rev. Janes lists ch of Ruth and John as James, Ebenezer, John and Elisha.

Several sources tell the story of the capture of young Elisha Searle. When the Indians saw they were being overtaken, they began to kill the youngsters and some of the women. Elisha saw what was about to happen to him, so he grabbed up a pack and let the Indians know he could be a help to them and not slow their flight. For 18 years—until 1722—he lived among the Indians and French in Canada. When he finally returned home he was unable to speak his native tongue or to identify himself. Finally, he picked up a pair of stilts he had walked with as a boy, demonstrating his skill and proving he was really the missing son. Trumbull (Northampton, p 496) said he returned to claim his share of his father's estate, intending to go back to Canada and Indian friends. As an inducement to stay, he was granted 10 pounds by the General Court and given a commission as sergeant. He served at Deerfield in 1724 and became a Lt., serving at Ft. Dummer the following year. He had been baptized by French priests and renamed "Michael." Evidently, however, he resumed his given name.

[15] In 1707 Benjamin Janes petitioned the Governor and Council for aid to help pay medical expenses for his wife, Hannah, who had been scalped and left for dead on Pomeroy Mt. "Benjamin Janes, late of Northampton, now resident in Wethersfield, complained of his great sufferings from the French and Indian enemies, who rifled his house, killed 4 of his children and scalped his wife who long had been and still is under cure, and himself so impoverished that he is unable to satisfy the surgeons in whose hands she had been and is like to be, for the cost and pains therein." (From the Judd MMS as quoted in Northampton, p 496.) Hannah was under the care of Dr. Gershom Buckley and others of Westfield. Later the family settled in Coventry, Ct.

Land at Stratford laid out 19 Feb 1727/28 to Thomas SALMON, Nehemiah LORING and John OUTMAN in right of their wives, daus of Wm JANES, dec'd (Note: The fact that Michael was not named as one of the executors of his mother Sarah's will would seem to indicate that he was living elsewhere in 1738.) William (II) helped organize the Protestant Episcopal Church in Ct; in 1710 petitioned general assembly of the colony, asking relief from taxation for the support of the established (Congregational) Ch; vestryman and church warden at Stratford, the first Episcopal Ch. in America; one of those who made application to the "society for propagation of the gospel in foreign parts" for a missionary, resulting in the appointment of George PIGOT, 1st missionary to the colony; possibly his religious connection influenced the name given to his only son, Michael. Note that the old church in Charleston, S.C. is St. Michaels; no known connection, but Michael did go to Charleston and may be the Michael JANES who died there 1760. (See also Hist. 16 Benjamin b Northampton, Ms. 30 Sep 1672; d Coventry, Ct. Oct 1748; m Hannah HINSDALE b ca 1674 Coventry; mov Northfield to Pascomac 1700; captured by Indians 13 May 1704, but managed to escape and go for help; four of his children killed; wife Hannah captured, taken to the top of Pomeroy's Mt, knocked on the head and scalped, but she was rescued alive, later recovered and lived to more than 80 years old; mov to Coventry 1712-13; to Northfield where he was Selectman 1719 and constable 1725 (Am. Ancestry, Vol. I). According to Rev. Frederic JANES account (pp 89-94), part of which he recalled from hearing his elder relatives describe the horrors of the Indian attack, Benjamin was spared to carry provisions for the invaders. He was ordered to empty the straw from the bed and use the "mattress cover" for all the pork he could stuff in, and bring it along. Loaded down, he lagged behind until they neared a ravine where he knew a boat was tied, sagged suddenly, then darted for the trees, ran down and leaped into the boat, and rowed hastily to get help from Northampton on the other side. Hannah had watched as "her infant was dashed against the doorpost" of their hut in Pascomac, probably saw three of her other children killed, then was captured. When settlers found her, she was "on the side of this mountain sitting and leaning against a log, and stroking the blood from her forehead and eyes." Evidently in their hurry to avoid their pursuers, the Indians had only partially completed the job. She was taken back to Northampton on a litter and later to Westfield or Wethersfield where she was treated by Dr. Gershom Buckley for several years. The Governor and Council "gave Benjamin a brief" 8 May 1707, craving the charity of the people of Branford, Guilford, Killingsworth and Saybrook on behalf of his wife. She recovered and bore 7 more children.

County, were John Henry Kalclesser, of Frankenthal; Christian Liebe (Leib), of Ebstein; Johanna Nass (Noss), of Norten; Peter Becker, of Dillsheim; John Henry Trout and several brothers; Heinrich Holsapple and Stephen Koch, of the Palatinate.

Come to America. This religious body suffered great persecutions in parts of the Fatherland. Some fled to Crefeld, Prussia, from thence to Holland, thence to the province of Friesland, in the hope of finding an asylum of peace and safety, but were everywhere disappointed until they "turned their faces toward the land of Penn," where this entire religious body soon emigrated. Twenty families first emigrated, with Elder Peter Becker at their head, in 1719, and settled in the vicinity of Germantown, Pennsylvania. In 1729 thirty more families came over under the leadership of the celebrated Alexander Mack, who himself was a noted evangelist and a descendant of the Waldenses so well known to history. Settlements of them were soon formed at Skippack, Montgomery County, Oley, in Berks. and Conestoga, in Lancaster; all under the care of preachers Mack and Becker. In 1723 the church held a first election in America and chose Conrad Beissel, a minister, and John Hildebrand, a deacon, both to serve in Lancaster County. In the language of an old record, "Conrad Beissel got wise in his own conceit, had an idea that Saturday was the Lord's day, secured a number of followers, and in 1729 organized, at Ephrata, the German Seventh-day Baptists," who were afterward known as a distinct church body. In 1732 Beissel organized a monastic society at Ephrata. The churches at Ephrata, at Conestoga, and one in Chester County attracted so many settlers that land became high. So numerous members of the Brethren Church, as early as 1736, began to migrate to what is now York County. Some went down into Maryland.

Conewago Church. The first church in York County by the Brethren was organized in 1738, "twenty miles west from the town of York, on the Little Conewago." This was in the vicinity of Hanover. The district embraced by the church included a large extent of territory east, north and northwest of the site of the present town of Hanover. It will thus be seen that the German Baptists were among the earliest people to form church organizations in York County.

Among the early members who organized this church, in 1738, were Eldrick, Dierdorff, Bigler, Gripe, Studsman and others. Among the prominent members of this congregation in 1770 were Jacob Moyer and James Henrick, preachers; Hans Adam Snyder, George Wine, Daniel Woods, Henry Geing, Joseph Moyer, Nicholas Hostetter, Christian Hostetter, Rudy Brown, Dobis Brother, Jacob Miller, Michael Koutz, Stephen Peter, Henry Tanner, Michael Tanner, John Moyer, Jacob Souder, Henry Hoff, John Swartz. The wives of all these persons named were also members of this church. The unmarried members were Barbara Snyder, John Geing, Maud Bowser, George Peter, Hester Wise, Christian Etter, John Peter Weaver, Barbara Bear, Elizabeth Boering, Grace Hymen.

Their first preacher was Daniel Leatherman, Senior. He was followed by Nicholas Martin, Jacob Moyer (Meyers), James Hendrich (Henry), etc.

In 1741 there was another church organized in the limits of what was then York County, "on the Great Conewago, about fourteen miles west from the new town of York." This was the same year York was founded. Many of the members of the church lived in the present territory of Adams County, in the vicinity of the villages of Abbottstown and East Berlin. Among the first members of this organization were John Neagley, Adam Sower, Jacob Sweigard, Peter Neiper and Joseph Latshaw. Their first elder was George Adam Martin, who was followed by Daniel Leatherman, Jr., and Nicholas Martin. The following were the members in 1770: George Brown, preacher; John Heiner, Peter Fox, Anthony Dierdorff, Nicholas Moyer, Manasseh Brough, Michael Bosserman, David Ehrhard, Daniel Baker, Abraham Stauffer, Henry Dierdorff, John Burkholder, Andrew Trimmer, Eustace Rensel, Peter Dierdorff, Barnett Augenbaugh, John Neagley, Michael Brissel, Welty Brissel, Matthias Bouser, Laurence Baker, Philip Snell, Nicholas Baker, Jr., Adam Sower, Adam Dick, Henry Brissel, David Brissel, Henry Radibush, George Wagner,

Samuel (Oct 2, 1790-Dec 10, 1859) who married Mary Latshaw
  (Aug 9, 1793-June 19, 1859), daughter of Isaac Latshaw.
  Samuel and Mary are buried at the Brown's Mill Church
  Cemetery in Franklin County, PA

Michael Schlotthauer ministered for more than three decades at the Marsh Creek congregation in Adams County, PA. The Adams County congregation was formed in 1805 and Michael became one of the early ministers to this German Baptist settlement. Although Michael and Elizabeth were originally interred in Adams County, PA, members of their families exhumed their remains and transferred them to the Franklin County Cemetery.

On Sept 24, 1753, Jacob Hedrick (Hetrick) (1736-Oct, 1789) arrived in America through the port of Philadelphia aboard the ship Peggy at the age of seventeen years. In 1760, he returned to Europe to marry Elizabeth Nauss, and then returned to York County with his bride and his two sisters. (19) Members of this family associated themselves with the Log Church (Stone Church) of York County. One of the eight children of Jacob and Elizabeth Hetrick was named Christian (Feb 2, 1765-April 24, 1827), who was married to Catharine ______ (Sept 26, 1763-Aug 4, 1838). Christian served five terms as a member of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives. In 1795, he was listed as owning one hundred and fifty nine acres of land near the community of Sticks, in Codorus Township. One of Christian's nine children was named George (1791-1855) through whom the lineage of Hetricks and Hostetters of the German Baptist faith are descended.

Members of the Hohf family united with both the Mennonite and the German Baptist faith in the vicinity of Hanover, PA. A Samuel Hoff was married to Magdalena Meyer (-), the daughter of Andrew Meyer. Their children were:

Maria (1797-)
Peter (1798-)
Catharine (1801-)
Samuel (1803-)
Andrew (1805-)
Henry (1807-)
David (1810-)
Jacob (1812-)
Solomon (June 4, 1817-June 22, 1896). Buried at the Black Rock Church Cemetery

We have already seen that Henry and Maria Danner Hohf resided within the bounds of the Little Conewago congregation. Three children of this family were active in the life of the Church: David, Jacob and Michael.

David Hoff (Jan 29, 1783-Nov 10, 1828) resided in Heidleberg Township. His will was probated in York County on Dec 1, 1828. His wife was named Euphrania (''Franey''), and their children were:

David (Nov, 1815-Feb 7, 1854) who married Elizabeth
  Christman (May 12, 1817-Aug 12, 1891)
Barbara (-) who married Peter Miller
Franey (-) who married George Pressel
Elizabeth (-) who married Jesse Danner

Samuel (Oct 2, 1790-Dec 10, 1859) who married Mary Lashaw
(Aug 9, 1793-June 19, 1879), daughter of Isaac Lashaw.

Hi,
Have you checked "The Brethren in Colonial Ameria," by Donald Durnbaugh? In the book some Amwell families are mentioned, and the congregation's ties with the Ephrata Cloister. I think the Lancaster County Historical Society has a typescript of the Conestoga Church fo the Brethren records. As I recollect the last time I saw this record, it may have noted families (not necessarily names) moving to Lancaster from Amwell, N.J. I hope this helps you.

Vital 'birth & baptism' information on fraktur

by Russell and Corinne Earnest for AntiqueWeek
Part 2 of 2 parts

To continue from a request by Allison Lendman about HETRICHs on fraktur, a taufschein (birth and baptism certificate) was made for Salome SCHMIDT, daughter of Peter SCHMIDT and his wife Marilis HEDRICH. Salome was born June 18, 1810 at about seven in the morning in Upper Mahanoy Twp., Northumberland Co., Penn. She was baptized by Pastor ULRICH on June 24, 1810. Nicolaus and Maria BROSIUS were sponsors. This certificate at various times passed through the hands of antique dealers Greg Kramer of Robesonia, Penn., and David Wheatcroft of Westborough, Mass.

The second volume of German-American Family Records in the Fraktur Tradition records a lengthy Bible record for the Daniel and Elisabetha (HETTRICH) BEISEL family. Daniel and Elisabetha were married June 11, 1807 by Pastor WALTER. Fifteen children were born to this marriage. The first eight were daughters, Maria, Selme, Lydia, Anna, Catharina, Elisabeth, Magdalena, and Raele (probably Rachel). Then followed Abraham, Heriette, Lusinna, Hanna, Daniel, Banevil, and William. Elisabetha (HETTRICH) BEISEL died Jan. 4, 1846 "after a long illness." No location is given in this Bible record, but this family was probably from Northumberland Co.

The third volume of that same publication records another lengthy Bible record for the GULDIN/GICKER family of Berks Co. It mentions Sarah Anna, daughter of John and Catharina (HETERICH) GICKER. Sarah Anna was born June 1, 1845 in Penn Twp., Berks Co. She was baptized Aug. 10, 1845 and confirmed in 1860 by I. MIESE. Sponsors at her baptism were John and Catharina (WERNER) HETTERICH.

Another Bible record listed in the above publication was made for the Elias and Helena (ROTHERMEL) OXENREITER family. Elias was the son of Jacob and Elisabeth (HETRICH) OXENREITER. Elias was born May 9, 1841, and baptized by R. DUNGER July 3, 1841. Sponsors at his baptism were Salomon and Rebecca SCHANKWEILER. No location is given in the Bible record, but the family probably lived in Northumberland Co.

That same volume lists a taufschein made for William Reili, son of William and Rebecca (SAEMAN) HETRICH. William Reili was born in Penn Twp., Berks Co., on April 9, 1853 and baptized June 19, 1853 by Pastor MIESE. Sponsors were William and Rebecca SAEMAN.

To be published in a future volume of German-American Family Records in the Fraktur Tradition is a newspaper clipping that accompanies a Bible record. The clipping is an obituary for Alice Rebecca HAAG who was born in North Heidelberg Twp., Berks County on Oct. 22, 1884. She died Nov. 20, 1959. Alice Rebecca HAAG was the wife of Martin J. HAAG. She was the daughter of Howard and Priscilla (ERNST) HETRICK.

Also for future publication are two certificates made for Thomas and Heiram Rudolph HETTERICH, sons of Levi and Christina (ERLE) HETTERICH. Thomas was born July 17, 1853 in West Hanover Twp., Lebanon Co., Penn. He was baptized by Pastor ROMIG on July 15, 1855. His parents were sponsors. Heiram Rudolph was born in East Hanover Twp., Dauphin Co. on May 9, 1858. He was baptized Sept. 19, 1858 by Pastor ROMIG. Again, the parents were sponsors.

We will return to the name HETRICH on fraktur in a future issue. If you have family names you wish us to research on fraktur, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Russell D. Earnest Associates, P.O. Box 1007, East Berlin, PA 17316. Please be patient. The response to our column has been overwhelming.

many records have never been found. Some of the most useful records in my research are those that some person "accidentally" found, to the extent of falling over a box on the basement stairs in a courthouse. For every record unearthed there are hundreds more to be found. The one record you need to solve the mystery of your ancestry may not be yet found.

A genealogy friend recently asked what advise I would give to a novice researcher. My advise is to enjoy your genealogical research. It is personal because it begins with you. If you are satisfied with it, then your research is worthwhile. If you are going to share it with others, make certain that you have compiled or shared a collection of information that can be documented and contains adequate proof.
